Railvolution

Clark Manus, FAIA
87th President
The American Institute of Architects
CEO of Heller Manus Architects

October 18, 2011
CEO of Heller Manus Architects

Academic

Hotel/Retail

HM International

Renovation

Residential

Commercial

Transportation

Master Planning
“World Population is projected to rise to 9 billion by 2050, with 7 of every 10 people living in urban areas.”

Traffic Congestion in the U.S.: Use Has Far Outpaced Road Construction

INDEXED 1983

YEAR

This chart would look different with more compact development.

Source: Federal Highway Administration–Highway Statistics Reports, U.S. Census Bureau–Population Data

Note: VMT = Vehicle Miles of Travel

Per Capita Carbon Footprints in the U.S.:
Emissions per Capita in the 100 Largest Metro Areas

Emissions from the transportation and residential sectors vary by metro area, largely due to how each generates energy.

Source: The Brookings Institution, 2005
Less Is More: California’s Annual Electricity Use, 1960–2008

California’s per capita electricity use has remained flat since the mid-1970’s as a result of aggressive legislation.

Source: New York Times
2005 Hurricane Katrina
http://www.fema.gov/news/disaster_totals_annual.fema
The San Francisco Embarcadero Freeway

October 1989  The Loma Prieta Earthquake…The Tipping Point
The Rebirth of the Embarcadero

"Build it and they will come"