NACTO’s Urban Street Stormwater Guide

Corinne Kisner
Director of Programs
National Association of City Transportation Officials
Cities are 60 – 90% impervious
Complete Streets …
Complete Streets are Green Streets
A street for cars…
A street for people…
A street for water.
Streets are an opportunity

- Impervious surface
  - Publicly controlled streets: 40%

Who is responsible for the street?

Transportation Departments
Who is responsible for the street?

Transportation Departments

Water & Sewer Agencies
Integrate Stormwater into Retrofits
Integrate Stormwater into Retrofits
GSI is managing 90% of stormwater runoff

98% of people bicycling feel safer

Oak & Fell Streets, San Francisco
Credit: Sergio Ruiz
Seek Opportunities to Do More
Seek Opportunities to Do More
1,000 trees planted
1 million riders each month
GSI is managing 50% of stormwater runoff
$3 billion in real estate development
The Lincoln St / SW 3rd Ave station includes 4,204 sq. feet of eco-track

Pervious pavement at the station platform is capturing 2,700 gallons of rain per year 252 curbside stormwater facilities

GSI is treating 34 acres of stormwater runoff
Recapture the Public Realm
Recapture the Public Realm
Corinne Kisner
Director of Programs
NACTO
corinne@nacto.org

28th-31st Avenue Connector in Nashville
Credit: Nashville MPO